

LAST CHANCE* TRAINING OPPORTUNITY - "Integrated Warfighting Capabilities" (CISL-IWC-100)

TARGET AUDIENCE: NAVAIR Civilian/military workforce

DATE&TIME: 27 May 2015; 0800 - 1500

DATE&TIME: 03 June 2015; 0800 - 1500

DESCRIPTION: A successful fleet in today's challenging battle space requires systems, networks, platforms, and sensors that are interoperable and horizontally integrated when fielded. Enabling that capability requires NAVAIR to think differently about how it will align resources in new ways despite evolving technology, dynamic operational environments, and shrinking budgets. Working together to address these barriers, I&I stakeholders are transforming the acquisition process into a mission-focused, system-of-systems, capabilities-based approach. IWC-100 provides an introduction to the concepts of Integrated Warfighting Capabilities (IWC), Integration and Interoperability (I&I), and the importance of both concepts to the fleet. The course discusses the specific roles of Air-4.0, -5.0 and -6.0 in the overall execution and delivery of IWC, and concludes with how the Navy and NAVAIR will manage this new approach to ensure that capabilities and systems are integrated when fielded.

REGISTRATION: Please register through NAVAIRU CISL at <https://navairu.navair.navy.mil/>.

NOTE: You must create your profile to register. To register for an account, after you go to the site, you will see at the top of the page on the left a link to register. After registration, select the CLASSES tab and type CISL-IWC-100 in the "Search" space. Select Search tab. Register for 27 May IWC-100 or 03 June IWC-100 by selecting "Register".

CONTACT: Phone - 301-866-2070 ext. 143 or 301-866-2070 ext. 144

CISL-IWC-100 Class
Announcement_27Ma